	INFORMATION REPORT
	Conchect avalet a	DATE DISTR. 2	No.
COUNTRY	Czechoslovakia	NO. OF PAGES	1
SUBJECT	Supplies of Textiles and Leather	NO. OF FAGES
PLACE ACQUIREI		NO. OF ENCLS.
ATE		SUPPLEMENT TO REPORT NO.
CQUIRE		KEI OK HO.
ATE OF
OF THE UNITE AND 794, OF LATION OF IT PROMISSIVED S	D STATES, WITHIN THE MEANING OF FITTE 18, SECTIONS 793 THIS U.S. COOR, AS AMENDED. 115 TRANSMISSION ON A SEVE- 5 CONTENTS TO ON RECEIPT BY AN UNAUTHORIZED PERSON 15 Y LAN. THE REPRODUCTION OF THIS FORM IS PROMISITED.	IEVALUATED INFORM	IATIO
1.	The supply of textiles in Czechoslovakia for the civ	riliam popula-
	The same of the sa	an de desare tion is governed by the rationing system. In additi	on to those tion is governed by the rationing system. In additi-	ion to those in these goods,
	tion is governed by the rationing system. In additi- textiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce as	ion to those in these goods, is not able ad of a very
_	tion is governed by the rationing system. In additi- textiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce as poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice	ion to those in these goods, is not able ad of a very
	tion is governed by the rationing system. In additi- textiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce as poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons.	in these goods, is not able ad of a very
2.	tion is governed by the rationing system. In additi- textiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce as poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons.	in these goods, is not able ad of a very
	tion is governed by the rationing system. In additi- textiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce as poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his compons. The army has priority in obtaining textiles, and the goods is far higher than that available on the civil The officer corps is supplied with uniforms of an ex- of wool: their shirts and underwear are of equally g	in these goods, r is not able ad of a very se in the manner se quality of the lian market. Reellent quality good quality.
	tion is governed by the rationing system. In addititextiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce and poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons. The army has priority in obtaining textiles, and the goods is far higher than that available on the civil the officer corps is supplied with uniforms of an end of wool; their shirts and underwear are of equally gofficers have a further advantage in that, although	in these goods, is not able ad of a very se in the manner se quality of the call an market accellent quality good quality the government
	tion is governed by the rationing system. In addititextiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce and poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons. The army has priority in obtaining textiles, and the goods is far higher than that available on the civil The officer corps is supplied with uniforms of an end of wool; their shirts and underwear are of equally gofficers have a further advantage in that, although furnishes them their uniforms and other clothing free	in these goods, is not able ad of a very se in the manner se quality of the call an market accellent quality good quality the government
	tion is governed by the rationing system. In addititextiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce and poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons. The army has priority in obtaining textiles, and the goods is far higher than that available on the civil the officer corps is supplied with uniforms of an end of wool; their shirts and underwear are of equally gofficers have a further advantage in that, although	in these goods, is not able ad of a very se in the manner se quality of the call an market accellent quality good quality the government
2.	tion is governed by the rationing system. In addititextiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce as poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons. The army has priority in obtaining textiles, and the goods is far higher than that available on the civil The officer corps is supplied with uniforms of an exof wool; their shirts and underwear are of equally gofficers have a further advantage in that, although furnishes them their uniforms and other clothing free receive the normal amount of clothing coupons.	in these goods, is not able ad of a very se in the manner se quality of the lian market. Seed quality the government see, they still
	tion is governed by the rationing system. In addititextiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce as poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons. The army has priority in obtaining textiles, and the goods is far higher than that available on the civil The officer corps is supplied with uniforms of an exof wool; their shirts and underwear are of equally gofficers have a further advantage in that, although furnishes them their uniforms and other clothing free receive the normal amount of clothing coupons. Linen is used in the following items of Czech army expects. mattresses, pillow cases), uniform lines (sheets, mattresses, pillow cases), uniform lines (sheets, mattresses, pillow cases), uniform lines (sheets, mattresses, pillow cases)	in these goods, is not able ad of a very se in the manner se quality of the lian market. Seed quality the government see, they still sequipment: bed imings, summer
2.	tion is governed by the rationing system. In addititextiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce as poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons. The army has priority in obtaining textiles, and the goods is far higher than that available on the civil The officer corps is supplied with uniforms of an exof wool; their shirts and underwear are of equally gofficers have a further advantage in that, although furnishes them their uniforms and other clothing free receive the normal amount of clothing coupons. Linen is used in the following items of Czech army expenses uniforms, underwear, shirts, handkerchiefs, atc. towels, haversacks, gas mask containers, tents.	in these goods, is not able ad of a very in the manner of a quality of the lian market. Coellent quality good quality. The government is, they still equipment: bed imings, summer foot wrappers, SMG ammunition
2.	tion is governed by the rationing system. In addititextiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce as poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons. The army has priority in obtaining textiles, and the goods is far higher than that available on the civil The officer corps is supplied with uniforms of an error wool; their shirts and underwear are of equally gofficers have a further advantage in that, although furnishes them their uniforms and other clothing freezeive the normal amount of clothing coupons. Linen is used in the following items of Czech army linen (sheets, mattresses, pillow cases), uniform lifatigue uniforms, underwear, shirts, handkerchiefs, etc, towels, haversacks, gas mask containers, tents containers, tarpaulins for cehicles, tanks, guns, he	in these goods, is not able ad of a very in the manner of a quality of the lian market. Coellent quality good quality. The government is, they still equipment: bed imings, summer foot wrappers, SMG ammunition
2. 3.	tion is governed by the rationing system. In addititextiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce as poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons. The army has priority in obtaining textiles, and the goods is far higher than that available on the civil The officer corps is supplied with uniforms of an exof wool; their shirts and underwear are of equally gofficers have a further advantage in that, although furnishes them their uniforms and other clothing freezeive the normal amount of clothing coupons. Linen is used in the following items of Czech army elinen (sheets, mattresses, pillow cases), uniform lifatigue uniforms, underwear, shirts, handkerchiefs, etc, towels, haversacks, gas mask containers, temts containers, tarpaulins for cehicles, tanks, guns, he water buckets.	in these goods, is not able ad of a very se in the manner sequality of the liam market. Coellent quality good quality. The government see, they still sequipment: bed inings, summer foot wrappers, SMG ammunition orse wagons and
2.	tion is governed by the rationing system. In addititextiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce are poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons. The army has priority in obtaining textiles, and the goods is far higher than that available on the civil The officer corps is supplied with uniforms of an end of wool; their shirts and underwear are of equally gofficers have a further advantage in that, although furnishes them their uniforms and other clothing frequence the normal amount of clothing coupons. Linen is used in the following items of Czech army elinen (sheets, mattresses, pillow cases), uniform lifatigue uniforms, underwear, shirts, handkerchiefs, etc, towels, haversacks, gas mask containers, tents containers, tarpaulins for cehicles, tanks, guns, he water buckets. The supply of leather in the CSR is likewise insufficient of leather is especially noticeable in consumer	in the se goods, is not able ad of a very se in the manner se quality of the lan market. See the good quality the government se, they still sequipment: bed inings, summer foot wrappers, SMG ammunition orse wagons and icient. The r goods such
2. 3.	tion is governed by the rationing system. In addititextiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce are poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons. The army has priority in obtaining textiles, and the goods is far higher than that available on the civil The officer corps is supplied with uniforms of an error wool; their shirts and underwear are of equally gofficers have a further advantage in that, although furnishes them their uniforms and other clothing frequency the normal amount of clothing coupons. Linen is used in the following items of Czech army elinen (sheets, mattresses, pillow cases), uniform lifatigue uniforms, underwear, shirts, handkerchiefs, etc, towels, haversacks, gas mask containers, tents, containers, tarpaulins for cehicles, tanks, guns, he water buckets. The supply of leather in the CSR is likewise insufficack of leather is especially noticeable in consumers thrief cases, bacs, suitcases, belts, shoes, etc.	in the se goods, is not able ad of a very se in the manner se quality of the lan market. Second quality the government see, they still sequipment: bed imings, summer foot wrappers, SMG ammunition orse wagons and sicient. The regoods such To meet the
2. 3.	tion is governed by the rationing system. In addititextiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce are poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons. The army has priority in obtaining textiles, and the goods is far higher than that available on the civil The officer corps is supplied with uniforms of an erof wool; their shirts and underwear are of equally gofficers have a further advantage in that, although furnishes them their uniforms and other clothing freezeive the normal amount of clothing coupons. Linen is used in the following items of Czech army elinen (sheets, mattresses, pillow cases), uniform lifatigue uniforms, underwear, shirts, handkerchiefs, etc, towels, haversacks, gas mask containers, tents, containers, tarpaulins for cehicles, tanks, guns, howater buckets. The supply of leather in the CSR is likewise insufflack of leather is especially noticeable in consumer as brief cases, bags, suitcases, belts, shoes, etc.	in these goods, is not able ad of a very se in the manner of quality of the lan market. See the good quality the government see, they still sequipment: bed imings, summer foot wrappers, SMG ammunition by the goods such to meet the foilcloth are
2.	tion is governed by the rationing system. In addititextiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce are poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons. The army has priority in obtaining textiles, and the goods is far higher than that available on the civil The officer corps is supplied with uniforms of an exof wool; their shirts and underwear are of equally gofficers have a further advantage in that, although furnishes them their uniforms and other clothing freezeive the normal amount of clothing coupons. Linen is used in the following items of Czech army elinen (sheets, mattresses, pillow cases), uniform lifatigue uniforms, underwear, shirts, handkerchiefs, etc, towels, haversacks, gas mask containers, tents containers, tarpaulins for cehicles, tanks, guns, howater buckets. The supply of leather in the CSR is likewise insufficack of leather is especially noticeable in consumer as brief cases, bags, suitcases, belts, shoes, etc. demand, leather substitutes such as various kinds of coupons, usually has rubber soles. The only foor	in these goods, is not able ad of a very se in the manner a quality of the lan market. See the quality good quality, the government see, they still sequipment: bed inings, summer foot wrappers, SMG ammunition by the goods such to meet the foilcloth are the exchange
2.	tion is governed by the rationing system. In addititextiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce as poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons. The army has priority in obtaining textiles, and the goods is far higher than that available on the civil The officer corps is supplied with uniforms of an exof wool; their shirts and underwear are of equally gofficers have a further advantage in that, although furnishes them their uniforms and other clothing freezeive the normal amount of clothing coupons. Linen is used in the following items of Czech army elinen (sheets, mattresses, pillow cases), uniform lifatigue uniforms, underwear, shirts, handkerchiefs, etc, towels, haversacks, gas mask containers, tents containers, tarpaulins for cehicles, tanks, guns, howater buckets. The supply of leather in the CSR is likewise insufficack of leather is especially noticeable in consumer as brief cases, bags, suitcases, belts, shoes, etc. demand, leather substitutes such as various kinds of being used. The footwear which can be obtained for of coupons, usually has rubber soles. The only foowith leather soles is sold on the freemarket.	in these goods, is not able ad of a very se in the manner a quality of the lan market. See the quality good quality, the government see, they still sequipment: bed inings, summer foot wrappers, SMG ammunition by the goods such to meet the foilcloth are the exchange
2.	tion is governed by the rationing system. In addititextiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce are poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons. The army has priority in obtaining textiles, and the goods is far higher than that available on the civil The officer corps is supplied with uniforms of an exof wool; their shirts and underwear are of equally gofficers have a further advantage in that, although furnishes them their uniforms and other clothing freezeive the normal amount of clothing coupons. Linen is used in the following items of Czech army elinen (sheets, mattresses, pillow cases), uniform lifatigue uniforms, underwear, shirts, handkerchiefs, etc, towels, haversacks, gas mask containers, tents containers, tarpaulins for cehicles, tanks, guns, howater buckets. The supply of leather in the CSR is likewise insufficack of leather is especially noticeable in consumer as brief cases, bags, suitcases, belts, shoes, etc. demand, leather substitutes such as various kinds of coupons, usually has rubber soles. The only foor	in these goods, is not able ad of a very se in the manner a quality of the lan market. See the quality good quality, the government see, they still sequipment: bed inings, summer foot wrappers, SMG ammunition by the goods such to meet the foilcloth are the exchange
2.	tion is governed by the rationing system. In addititextiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce as poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons. The army has priority in obtaining textiles, and the goods is far higher than that available on the civil The officer corps is supplied with uniforms of an exof wool; their shirts and underwear are of equally gofficers have a further advantage in that, although furnishes them their uniforms and other clothing freezeive the normal amount of clothing coupons. Linen is used in the following items of Czech army elinen (sheets, mattresses, pillow cases), uniform lifatigue uniforms, underwear, shirts, handkerchiefs, etc, towels, haversacks, gas mask containers, tents containers, tarpaulins for cehicles, tanks, guns, howater buckets. The supply of leather in the CSR is likewise insufficack of leather is especially noticeable in consumer as brief cases, bags, suitcases, belts, shoes, etc. demand, leather substitutes such as various kinds of being used. The footwear which can be obtained for of coupons, usually has rubber soles. The only foowith leather soles is sold on the freemarket.	in these goods, is not able ad of a very se in the manner a quality of the lan market. See the quality good quality, the government see, they still sequipment: bed inings, summer foot wrappers, SMG ammunition by the goods such to meet the foilcloth are the exchange
2.	tion is governed by the rationing system. In addititextiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce as poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons. The army has priority in obtaining textiles, and the goods is far higher than that available on the civil The officer corps is supplied with uniforms of an ere of wool; their shirts and underwear are of equally gofficers have a further advantage in that, although furnishes them their uniforms and other clothing freezeive the normal amount of clothing coupons. Linen is used in the following items of Gzech army linen (sheets, mattresses, pillow cases), uniform lifatigue uniforms, underwear, shirts, handkerchiefs, etc, towels, haversacks, gas mask containers, tents, containers, tarpaulins for cehicles, tanks, guns, he water buckets. The supply of leather in the CSR is likewise insufficack of leather is especially noticeable in consumer as brief cases, bags, suitcases, belts, shoes, etc. demand, leather substitutes such as various kinds of being used. The footwear which can be obtained for of coupons, usually has rubber soles. The only footwith leather soles is sold on the freemarket. — end —	in these goods, is not able ad of a very se in the manner a quality of the lam market. See the quality good quality, the government see, they still sequipment: bed inings, summer foot wrappers, SMG ammunition by the goods such to meet the folicloth are the exchange twear available
2.	tion is governed by the rationing system. In addititextiles which are rationed, there is a free market but the prices are so high that the average consumer to afford them. The rationed textiles are scarce as poor quality. The consumer has a very limited choice of disposing of his coupons. The army has priority in obtaining textiles, and the goods is far higher than that available on the civil The officer corps is supplied with uniforms of an exof wool; their shirts and underwear are of equally gofficers have a further advantage in that, although furnishes them their uniforms and other clothing freezeive the normal amount of clothing coupons. Linen is used in the following items of Czech army elinen (sheets, mattresses, pillow cases), uniform lifatigue uniforms, underwear, shirts, handkerchiefs, etc, towels, haversacks, gas mask containers, tents containers, tarpaulins for cehicles, tanks, guns, howater buckets. The supply of leather in the CSR is likewise insufficack of leather is especially noticeable in consumer as brief cases, bags, suitcases, belts, shoes, etc. demand, leather substitutes such as various kinds of being used. The footwear which can be obtained for of coupons, usually has rubber soles. The only foowith leather soles is sold on the freemarket.	in these goods, is not able ad of a very se in the manner a quality of the lam market. See the quality good quality, the government see, they still sequipment: bed inings, summer foot wrappers, SMG ammunition by the goods such to meet the folicloth are the exchange twear available	